The Straight-Up Jazz Trio

The Straight Up Jazz Trio has been playing together since 2014 in Northeast Connecticut, USA. The trio format is a special ensemble in jazz, with a tradition going back to the early swing era. With a basic instrumentation of piano, bass and drums, the musicians can explore and reinterpret music spontaneously. Trios led by Bud Powell, Bill Evans, Ahmad Jamal, and Keith Jarrett have often been on the creative forefront in jazz, and continue to serve as an inspiration to contemporary musicians. The Straight Up Jazz Trio continues in that tradition, playing material from the standards repertoire in an expressive, adventurous, and visceral manner.

The trio members are:

Pianist Anthony Cornicello is a Professor of Music at Eastern Connecticut State University, where he has taught jazz piano as well as directed the Eastern Jazz band. Anthony has been involved with jazz since the 1980s, leading his own ensembles and playing with avant-garde groups such as "Inside/Out".

Rick O'Neal is a Bass Player for a few regional bands including Delta Generators, O'Neal Armstrong and Straight Up Jazz. Rick has appeared at the San Francisco and Montreal Jazz Festivals, and has opened for Etta James and BB King. He is now an adjunct Professor at Eastern Connecticut State University.

Drummer Venlo Odom has been a professional musician for over 40 years, playing with Barry White, The O'Jays, John Lee, Jimmie Smith, amongst others. He has played in major venues, including B.B. King's (NYC), The Apollo Theatre and Mohegan Sun's Wolf Den, and has appeared on many recordings. Venlo is currently working towards a BA in Music Performance at Eastern.

The Greater Hartford Host Lions Club

Formed from the merger of the West Hartford Lions Club (founded in 1946) with the Hartford Host Lions Club (founded in 1922) The Greater Hartford Host Lions Club helps make our community a better place to live through our members' volunteering and fundraising efforts. Each year, the Club awards multiple $2,500 college scholarships to graduating high school seniors in the Hartford area. The Club also raises funds annually for many local and national nonprofits, including Oak Hill School, The American School for the Deaf, Fidelco Guide Dog Foundation, Foodshare, The Village for Families and Children, CLERF, the Lions Low Vision Centers, and CRIS Radio. Our members perform eye screenings for senior citizens, elementary school and pre-school children, and we pay for eye exams and new glasses for adults and children in need. 100% of the money we raise is returned to the community in the form of donations and service projects.
